Creating A Livable Community

JusticeStat

Presented to the Winnebago County Bar Association

October 12, 2011

“The Morrissey administration has criticized the 17th Judicial Circuit for not sending enough criminals to prison. The city’s legal director, Patrick Hayes, points to large urban communities that sentence more felons to prison. He said they have lower crime rates.

The mayor’s criticism is based on bad data, a bad premise and, maybe the worst sin in politics, bad manners. The surprise attack is hardly ever effective.”

Without data analysis we are left to judge the justice system by anecdote

- Prairie Street Murder
- Marie's Pizza Armed Robbery
- Burglary at the Brewery and Rockford CC

We had them all and let them go.

On Bond

Donald Falls (Suspect: Prairie Street Shooting)

- First went to state prison (DOC) in March of 2005 for possession of a sawed off weapon.
- Was released in 2005 after completion of impact incarceration program.
- Arrested in November of 2005 and convicted of the weapons offense in 2006 and sentenced to 10 years DOC.
- Released from the DOC in 2010. Arrested in Rockford in May of 2011 for weapons and narcotics offenses and posted $15,000 cash bond.
- Was a twice convicted felon on bond for another felony on September 28, 2011 when he allegedly shot and killed Harold Anding on Prairie Street in Rockford. Now wanted for Murder.

On Probation

Lamar Coates (Suspect: Marie's Pizza Armed Robbery)

- Placed on probation 11/2010 for Aggravated Domestic Battery, a class 2 felony.
- Arrested and placed on bond for battery to a police officer on March ,2011.
- Arrested on June 3, 2011 for Aggravated UUW, Mob Action and felon in possession of a weapon. Released on his own recognizance on August 9, 2011.
- Was on felony probation and on bond for two separate violent incidents when he allegedly participated in the Marie's Pizza Armed Robbery which resulted in the death of his 16 year old brother, Michael D. Sago.
- Charged with multiple counts of murder, attempted murder, armed robbery and attempted armed robbery.

On Parole

James Mabrey (Suspect: Multiple Burglary)

- Has been to state prison on numerous occasions, most recently being released from an 8 year sentence for Burglary, and remains on parole for that offense.
- Arrested on August 23, 2011 for Burglary.
- Bond reduced on August 31, 2011.
- Released on $500 bond on September 13, 2011
- Arrested on September 21, 2011 for Burglary.
- Was on an ankle bracelet monitor when he allegedly burglarized the Rockford Country Club.

Evidence-Based Practices Reduce Recidivism

Data analysis will aid the community in understanding the impact of the decisions on offender control pending trial and sentencing outcomes. The data will assist in analyzing risk factors and appropriate conditions of pre-trial release and probation.

Evidence-based practices to reduce recidivism, Implications for
State Judiciaries,
Roger K. Warren, 2007

Our recent efforts to gather data

- Courts and Circuit Clerks are not subject to FOIA
- Local Rules provide for the Court Information Committee to review requests for data from the County's upgraded Court Information System.
- The requests must be accompanied by a statement of intended use.
- A recent request for a list of current probationers took two weeks, and included numerous individuals whose probation had expired.

Limited Data = Limited Confidence

- Present data available paints an incomplete picture of the system and outcomes.
- We have a high crime rate and a lower than average imprisonment rate.
- There is little public data on the performance of our probation programs.

SENTENCING

In late 2008, the City focused attention on the sentencing outcomes for Winnebago County. The local Courts were sending less than 30% of felons eligible for probation to state prison. This lagged behind many communities, the state as a whole, and downstate, when excluding Cook County from the analysis.

The Challenge

The Rockford Police Department has proposed geopolicing, which involves assigning officers to the same area, building relationships and developing a problem-solving (rather than reactive) approach to crime.

It may not be perfect; it may be a hard sell with the rank and file. However, the city recognized its responsibility to the community to put geopolicing out there as a big picture — a possible solution.

We haven't noticed anything similar from the judiciary. In the last few years, the county has spent millions of dollars on technology to allow the courts to share information and measure results.

Where's the sharing? Where's the measurement?

The Justice Stat Idea

Rockford Mayor Larry Morrissey's administration in 2008 criticized the court for not sending enough criminals to prison. The city's legal director pointed to large urban communities that sentence more felons to prison. He said these communities have lower crime rates.

We said the analysis was flawed. We said it was bad manners and bad politics for the mayor to publicly criticize judges without consulting with them first. "The surprise attack is hardly ever effective," we wrote.

If the bench won that round, it was a bitter victory.
